

Recreation Facilities Of 35 Towns Subject To Survey Of Victory Chest

Recreation facilities for children and young people in the 35 cities and towns included in the Community Welfare Federation will be the subject of a survey inaugurated this week under the sponsorship of a volunteer citizens Youth Survey Board, it is announced by P. G. Winnett, Federation president.

Consultation groups of citizens in 65 areas are being formed by agencies cooperating in the survey, including the Welfare Council, public recreation departments and commissions, the Probation Department, Coordinating Councils and Community Chest agencies. Adults and young people in each of the areas will be interviewed for their opinions as to recreational and leisure-time facilities needed.

The survey is the outgrowth of the known lack of adequate, supervised recreational outlets for thousands of young people, and has been set up by a special grant of $21,220 from the Federation upon the recommendations of the Youth Service Division of the Welfare Council.

Upon its conclusion, the sponsoring group will be presented with a master plan for the sustained development of youth leisure-time opportunities and the coordination of public and private youth agencies in order to avoid duplication of effort and waste of funds.

The citizens' sponsoring group appointed by J. D. Bruner, chairman of Youth Service Division, has been given an outline of survey methods by Roy Sampson, survey director. Members of the Youth Survey Board include Hon. Fletcher Bowron, Rt. Rev. Joseph T. McGucken, Dr. E. C. Farnham, Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin.

Pheasants On Guam Are Doing Well, Navy Says

"A flash of home—so much that I wanted to sit down and cry."

That was the first reaction of a navy man on Guam when one morning recently he observed a young Mongolian pheasant hen chasing insects in the heavy cover near his tent.

The hen was one of 30 pheasants flown from holding pens of the California Division of Fish and Game in Sacramento to Guam by the U.S. Navy last July at the request of Admiral of the Fleet Chester W. Nimitz for planting in areas which the admiral felt were ideal for the propagation of upland game birds.

Most recent reports on progress of the birds indicate the Mongolians have taken to Guam like a duck to water.

In a letter to Emil J. N. Ott Jr., executive secretary of the California Fish and Game Commission, Lt. Commander John N. Ball, formerly of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, wrote:

"Indications are that the birds are doing well to date. Saw one hen this morning. She was feeding away on insects, weed seeds and greens. Seemed to be in good condition and had maintained normal growth since released. It is most encouraging to see them around and there has been much favorable comment on the island."

"Admiral Nimitz is very anxious now to get some California valley quail for stocking. They should do well in the hill section of the island."

Moving Of Government Trailers To Congested Areas Urged By Caldwell

While housing authorities of the federal government and political subdivisions, including the City of Los Angeles, have decided that "not one single unit of temporary housing will be torn down until people living in it are able to provide themselves with decent American housing," the need for additional temporary dwellings to take care of veterans' needs is becoming more evident every day, according to J. G. Caldwell, executive of the Torrance Area Veterans

Service Center, 2300 Carson st. Caldwell said that for the present, no more trailers are available at Lumina Park and the housing shortage grows more serious, "with lots of talk but no action."

He argued that every government-owned trailer on the Pacific Coast be moved into congested areas immediately "as it is the job of the federal government." He said that the veterans coming in from the battlefields of the world are from every state in the union. "This shortage will continue for some time, or until our armed forces have been demobilized."

Caldwell said that applications for Food Book 4 may be secured by veterans at the TAVSC, as well as file applications and school information for the returned veterans. The hours of the office are from 8:30 to 5:15 p. m. Monday through Friday. There is a representative from the Los Angeles veterans service center in Torrance each Thursday afternoon.

Caldwell announced that Helen K. Dill, Gardena, had been added to the staff, and he said the telephone number of the center had been changed to Torrance 1194.
RADAR CANAL 'WATCHDOG'
A Signal Corps radar set, which passed its initial Army field test in 1938, was a "watchdog" at the Panama Canal a year before Pearl Harbor. The set's key tube produced 10 times more power than any other ultra high-frequency electronic tube built previously.
